Jalan Travers is a major road in Brickfields (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/brickfields.htm>), and now in new central business district of KL Sentral (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/kl-sentral.htm>) in Kuala Lumpur (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur.htm>). It originally linked Jalan Damansara (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/jalan-damansara.htm>) to Jalan Tun Sambanthan (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/jalan-tun-sambanthan.htm>), but since January 2015, it ends at the junction with Jalan Bangsar. The stretch between Jalan Bangsar and Jalan Tun Sambanthan has been renamed Jalan Rakyat (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/jalan-rakyat.htm>), following the request of Bank Rakyat (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/menara-kembar-bank-rakyat.htm>), which has its headquarters on that road.

Originally known as Travers Road, Jalan Travers was named after Dr Ernest Aston Otho Travers<sup>1</sup>, a doctor who worked among those who were stricken with leprosy at the leper colony in Setapak (<https://www.penang-traveltips.com/malaysia/kuala-lumpur/setapak.htm>). Today Jalan Travers is one of three roads named after him, the other two being Lorong Travers and Jalan Bukit Travers.
